Tenuta di Trinoro

Tenuta di Trinoro is considered one of the most iconic wines produced in Italy today. The estate, planted on virgin soil following the vision of owner and winemaker Andrea Franchetti, is planted solely with Bordelais grapes, with a strong preponderance of Cabernet Franc. The isolated estate occupies an area of about 200 hectares, of which 22 are planted with vines. It is located in the Val d'Orcia, between 450 and 600 meters above sea level, where the eroded rock of the mountain gives way to the limestone and clay of an ancient sea floor. These Super Tuscan wines are unique in their area, expressing the particular conditions of this elevated, inland valley.

Tenuta di Trinoro Rosso Toscana I.G.T. (Multiple Vintages) 96 WS/95 WA (2018 Vintage) 98+ WA Code #35739

The flagship wine of Tenuta di Trinoro provides the greatest insight into Andrea Franchetti's approach to winemaking. A proprietary blend of Cabernet Franc, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Petit Verdot that is never a predetermined recipe, formula, or even flavor profile. The best grapes are hand selected each year, making every vintage different. This Super Tuscan wine showcases the distinct terroir and native grapes from this remote estate at the furthest confines of Tuscan viticulture. Rich and structured, with a depth of flavor and complexity, these are the hallmarks of the Franchetti wines, and they are perfectly represented in the Rosso Toscana.

Élevé Winegrowers

As a Viticulture & Enology Graduate Student at UC Davis back in 2004, Tom Fitzpatrick designed a Pinot Noir Study to better understand the influence of Clone and Rootstock on Phenolic Composition (i.e. Color and Texture). Vineyards located in some of California's most diverse environments were studied. The results of the study were quite unexpected... there was no clear relationship between Clone, Rootstock, and Phenolic Composition... "environment" appeared to be the primary driver of phenolic differences. At that moment, Tom understood that a desired wine flavor profile could be best achieved through the careful selection of vineyard environment and the concept for Élevée Winegrowers' "Study In Terroir" was born.
